Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3 and 5 have been rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Niedecker, 5735022 . Niedecker discloses a plurality of binding pieces comprising a clip having a pair of leg portions and a receiving member having a pair of holes for pinching to bind a bag opening portion by pressing the pair of leg portions of the clip to the pair of holes of the receiving member. The claim requires "press-fitting" the pair of leg portions of the clip to the holes. The applicant's specification defines "press-fitting" on page 3, second paragraph as "in press-fitting, a resisting force (= friction coefficient x load per unit area x area) is operated." Niedecker discloses a type of "press-fitting" clip, i.e., there is a resistance force between the sliding contact between the teeth of the leg member and the receiving member and the sliding contact between the other leg member and the side of the receiving opening.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 4 has been rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Niedecker, 5735022 in vie of Japanese reference, JP2002293364. Niedecker discloses a connector means (25) attaching each binding piece to the next binding piece. The claim requires that the connecting portion have a tapered shape, which is not shown clearly in Niedecker. The Japanese reference shows that it is old and well known to make the connector into a tapered shaped connector (32, figure 6) to facilitate the ease of separation at the smaller end of the connector. It would have been obvious to make Niedecker's connector into a tapered shape.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 6-8 have been objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Madsen, 4878702, discloses a variety of different embodiments for connecting a bag clip to close the opening of a bag.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 10/7/2009 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The applicant argues that Niedecker fails to disclose a clip for pinching a bag opening by press-fitting the pair of leg portions of the clip to the pair of holes of the receiving member. The applicant's specification defines "press-fitting" on page 3, second paragraph as "in press-fitting, a resisting force (= friction coefficient x load per unit area x area) is operated."

Niedecker discloses a plurality of binding pieces comprising a clip having a pair of leg portions and a receiving member having a pair of holes for pinching to bind a bag opening portion by pressing the pair of leg portions of the clip to the pair of holes of the receiving member. Niedecker discloses a type of "press-fitting" clip, i.e., there is a resistance force between the sliding contact between the teeth of the leg member and the receiving member and the sliding contact between the other leg member and the side of the receiving opening. This sliding frictional force in Niedecker meets applicant's statement and definition of press-fitting and therefore discloses applicant's claimed invention.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
